

JOB DESCRIPTION

Operation Director, Supply Chain & Logistic

J069/WW/C0103/2019

- A leading European retailer
- Energetic and inspiring work culture
- Opportunity to lead, drive and manage the Asia supply chain

Can you start from a blank sheet of paper? Our client is seeking a Supply Chain and Logistic professional who can manage the end-to-end process – “source-to-shelve” from Asia to Europe.

Your role will focus on supply & demand planning, inventory & production management, shipments & volumes forecasting and distribution model of different product category. You will be expected to work flawlessly and simultaneously with the cross regional and functional teams on optimization and costs utilization.

Be agile, you will be participating or leading cross functional projects on driving continuous improvement and capital efficiency. In addition, developing strong partnership with vendors and managing stakeholders' expectation are an important area for this role.

Step Up is searching for an outstanding profile, someone who can create efficient change and be a strong contributor in participating Supply Chain development initiatives.

The successful candidate must have advanced analytical and problem solving ability, combined with an understanding of multi-cultural sensitivities. Ideally you will have excellent presentation skills, be proactive, independent and detail focused, and very well organised.

A degree in the relevant field and minimum 6 years of management experience, of which experience in developing end-to-end supply chain model from sourcing to retail is required.

Knowledge of international supply chain processes with a focus on integrated supply planning, production capacity planning and freight consol/de-consol is a must.

Lastly, you should have excellent MS Excel skills and proficiency in French.

**Candidates with less experience would be considered as Operation Manager.*
